THE RATEFUL HOUR OF 12
APPROACHED!

THE UPSIDE DOWN SPURS

"The name is John Hendrickson," said the man. "I called you on the phone Monday for a reservation for horseback riding from ten to twelve today. Also your son is to ride with me."

"We have your horse," replied Frank Yager, owner of the Cortland Riding Academy. "The rate is two and a half dollars an hour for your horse. That makes five dollars for the two hours. The same amount is due for my son to accompany you on his horse. So you owe me ten dollars."

The man took a wallet from his pocket and opened it. He gave Frank Yager a ten dollar bill. John Hendrickson was about thirty two or three at the most. His height was five feet eleven and he was dressed in a tan sport coat. He wore riding breeches and a pair of tan riding boots. Underneath his sport coat was a tan turtle neck cotton sweater. And he wore a tan scarf. He had a pair of tan gloves and carried a riding crop. He glanced at his wrist watch.

"I am an exact man. Always come on time. I will start riding now."

Mr. Frank Yager opened the swinging gate to his small office and the two then walked into the modern stable. A young boy had just finished saddling two horses.

"Joe," said his father, "You will ride with Mr. Hendrickson and follow his instructions."

Having thus spoken, the father then returned to his office. The boy looked carefully at the man from top to bottom. His eyes noticed the spurs.

"You have your spurs upside down, sir," he said.

"I know that," smiled the man. "Really it doesn't make any difference, does it?"

Joe brought out a beautiful white horse which he held until the man had mounted the animal. Then he checked the length of the stirrups.

"I better raise the left one two holes," he said.

This he did quickly and then checked the girth. Next he mounted his own horse which was a chestnut brown animal.

"The name of your horse is Snowy and mine is Chester," he explained.

"We will ride up and down the length of the abandoned railroad trestle," announced Mr. John Hendrickson. "You just follow me. That's all you are to do until we return to the stable. I enjoy riding my way."

The boy shook his head in agreement. The two riders then left the stable and turned left. They went under a small bridge and then through a group of trees. Suddenly Mr. John Hendrickson reined in his horse. From his coat pocket he took a pair of sun glasses which he placed over his eyes.

"I am forgetful at times," he admitted. "When I came into the office I noticed a coat hanger which I used for my coat. It is an imported English light overcoat in black and white checks. In the coat pocket is my cigarette case. It is encased in diamonds and worth about five thousand dollars. I'll wait here. Please get it for me."

Joe turned his horse around and retraced the way back to the stable. As soon as he was out of sight, the rider quickly dismounted. A man came up to him and threw over him a tan field coat. The man wore the duplicate riding outfit, including the sun glasses.

"This has to be worked to an exact time schedule," said John Hendrickson to his double. "If I am not back then you know the plan failed. You can imitate my voice but don't talk unless you have to. Remember to drop the scarf at the other end of the trestle. I should be there."

The double mounted the horse. John Hendrickson vanished from the scene and cut across the path to a waiting sedan. He entered it and gave his order.

"Let's go Mike. Every second counts."

Joe returned with the cigarette case and gave it to "Mr. Hendrickson" who pocketed it and smiled. Then the two rode up and down the long length of the trestle. The boy looked at the spurs on the boots of the rider. This time they were in the correct position. That puzzled him. He was about to say something but refrained from speaking.

The man walked his horse, trotted and cantered. He was enjoying himself and it was evident to the boy that the man knew how to ride a well schooled horse. Time went slowly. They were at the other end of the trestle when suddenly the scarf of the rider became loose and fell down the side.

"I'll get it for you," said Joe.

The boy turned his horse around and had to go to the right. Then slowly he went down the embankment. He was now out of sight. At that moment the real John Hendrickson appeared. He removed from his shoulders the field coat. Quickly the rider dismounted and again John Hendrickson was on his horse. Then the double vanished when he heard the news.

"It went off perfectly. Mike is waiting for you with the car. Go to the hide-out and stay there until you hear from me."

Joe returned with the scarf which he gave to the rider. Then they headed back to the stable. Joe glanced down at the stirrups and noticed that this time the spurs were again upside down. He shook his head for a moment as though he were arguing with himself about his vision.

They returned to the stable and dismounted. Then they went into the office.

"Is it o.k. for me to give your son a tip?" he asked Frank Yager.

"Yes," replied the father. "He puts all his tips in a special bank account. He wants to go to college, study law, and then join the F.B.I."

The man gave the boy a two dollar tip and received his thanks. Then he left. Joe finished the day by giving instructions to a group of children in the ring. Then father and son went home. But at eleven that night, when the father opened the door to his son's bedroom, he noticed the boy was wide awake.

"Anything wrong?" he asked. "Feel ill?"

"Feel fine," smiled the boy. "But I can't figure out how a pair of spurs can turn themselves upside down twice."

It was four days later that two men came to the riding academy. They showed their credentials to the father and then explained the object of their mission.

"The name John Hendrickson may mean nothing to you," said one of the men. "He is the craftiest fellow in the city. Tells us he has a perfect alibi. That he rode with your son from ten to twelve on the morning of Wednesday, May 25th. Is that correct?"

Frank Yager took his appointment book from the drawer of his desk and opened to the appropriate sheet.

"I could have said 'Yes' without this book,

but here is the record."

The two officers looked at the book. Then one asked for permission to speak to the boy. Joe was in the stable fixing a saddle. The father accompanied the two men.

"I am Captain Herbert Bedoman and my partner is Lieutenant Fred Coopers," said the older of the two men. "Here are our credentials and also our badges."

The boy looked with interest at the credentials and at the badges.

"I am going to be an F.B.I. man when I grow up, I hope," he informed them. "How can I help you?"

"John Hendrickson claims he was with you for a period of two hours on Wednesday, May 25th," began Captain Herbert Bedoman. "Is it possible that he was not with you?"

The boy looked deep in thought. Something was going through his brain.

"Is this very important?" he wanted to know.

"Very important," said Lieutenant Fred Coopers. "If we can show he wasn't with you, we can smash the biggest jewel gang in the country."

Slowly the boy told the story about the upside down spurs. Also the fact that he had gotten the cigarette case and the scarf for the rider.

"Unless the spurs could turn themselves around, then it couldn't have been the same man," pointed out the boy.

Two months had passed and Joe was asleep in his room. His father opened the door to check and then closed it softly. He went into the living room.

"I won't awaken him now," he said to Captain Bedoman. He would never fall asleep again. The morning will be sufficient time to tell him about the reward money that is going into his bank account."

"And also that the F.B.I. can look forward to getting a very intelligent agent when he grows up," added Lieutenant Coopers.

4 "POWER PACKED" INCHES OF MUSCLES TO YOUR CHEST!

Says JOE WEIDER, "The Muscle Builder" and "Trainer of the Champions"

IN half the time, with twice the ease, in the privacy of your own room, in just a few minutes daily, I will, through my TRIPLE-PROGRESSION COURSE, slap inches of steel muscles to your pipe-stem arms, pack your chest with power and size, give you life-guard shoulders, dynamic, speedy athletic legs — add Jet-Charged strength to every muscle in your body. I don't care if you're short or tall, skinny or fat, office-worker, laborer, school-boy, or businessman, I must make a new virile he-man out of you, and also help build "inner strength" that will give you that virile look, that women admire and men envy. Here's what I did for Clancy Ross, one of the many thousands of weaklings I turned into He-Men.

VALUABLE TROPHY GIVEN AWAY

Be the envy of friends! Win this striking trophy over 140 lbs. All points eligible.

JUST tell me where you want it and I'll add SOLID INCHES of powerful new muscle SO FAST your friends will grow bug-eyed with wonder!

Do you want me to broaden your shoulders—put trip-hammer power in both your arms—make your legs two pillars of strength? Then just check what you want below. I'll show how you can get it in just 15 minutes a day—in your own home—or it won't cost you a penny!

I don't care if you are 15 or 50 years old—or how ashamed of your present physical condition you may be. I can give you a "barrel chest" and a vice-like grip. I can shoot new strength into your old backbone, exercise those inner organs—help you cram your body so full of pep, vigor and red-blooded vitality that you won't feel there's even "standing room" left for weakness and that lazy feeling. I'll wake up that sleeping energy of yours and make it hum like a high-powered dynamo! You'll feel and look different. Man, you'll begin to LIVE!

WHAT'S MY SECRET?

"DYNAMIC TENSION!" That's the ticket! The identical natural method that I myself developed to change my body from the scrawny skinny chested weakling I was at 17 to my present superman physique! Thousands of other fellows are becoming marvelous physical specimens—my way. I give you no gadgets or contraptions to fool with. When you have learned to develop your strength through "Dynamic Tension" you can laugh at the artificial muscle-makers. You simply utilize the DOR-MANT muscle-power in your own God-given body—watch it increase and multiply double-quick into real solid LIVE MUSCLE.

My method—"Dynamic Tension"—will turn the trick for you. No theory—so easy! Spend only 15 minutes a day in your own home. From the very start you'll be using my method of "Dynamic Tension" almost unconsciously every minute of the day—walking, bending over, etc.—to BUILD THE MUSCLE AND VITALITY you want. And you'll be using the method which many great athletes use for keeping in condition—prize fighters, wrestlers, baseball and football players, etc.
